

university of groningen

Workshop: Epidemics in Medieval and Early Modern Western Europe

Monday June 5, 2023, Groningen, Academic Building (Broerstraat 5)

10.15-12.00: Academic Building room (A)3 (left after main entrance)

Chair: Anjana Singh (University of Groningen)

10.15-10.30: Welcome

10.30-11.15: New directions in the study of medieval epidemics (Philipp Schofield, University of Aberystwyth Wales-UK)

11.15-12.00: Plaque and population change: England, 1348-1377 (Hugo la Poutré, University of Groningen, the Netherlands)

12.00-13.00: Lunch-break

13.00-15.00: Academic Building: Heymanszaal (left after main entrance, end of corridor)

13.00-13.45: Preserving the Ordinary in the Low Countries in the Age of the Second Plague Pandemic (Daniel Curtis, Erasmus University Rotterdam, the Netherlands)

13.45-14.30: The 1690s epidemic in Flanders (Anzegem) (Wouter Ronsijn and Isabelle Devos, University of Ghent, Belgium)

14.30-15.00: Coffee/tea

The workshop can also be followed online. Please in that case contact the coordinator r.f.j.paping@rug.nl for the specific links

NB:

Afterwards PhD-defense Hugo la Poutré (Aula Academic Building)

16.15-17.00: English Population 1086-1377: a modelling approach

17.00-18.00: reception

Organisation: Richard Paping (University of Groningen)

The Groningen Research Institute for the Study of Culture (ICOG)

HiDo: Scientific Network for Historical Demography

Registration: not necessary. It is also possible to attend only part of the program. Information:

r.f.j.paping@rug.nl